Dedication

"He's funny — always told his Maine stories and talked about his family and his outrageous childhood stories."

"Once I asked him why I got an F and he told me it was because they don't give our G's??"

"Once I was smoking in the bathroom and he caught me. When I said that I wasn't smoking he asked if my brain was on fire!"

".... caring and a good reader"

"His favorite saying was always, 'When I was a freshman in high school ...'"

"Hey, Mr. Gray, How was Moscow this weekend???"

"Told me I'd never have to worry about getting a brain tumor."

"He's a hoot!"

"The man in purple, 'about a C-', that's what he'd always say."

"He's cool and dresses real nice."

"Is his grandmother really a ski instructor that gets into bar brawls?"

"Always has a quote for something."

Mr. Paul Gray

Eccentric, wiry Mr. Paul Gray — What can we say? Bearing pocket calenders and a quick humor for all his adoring students, Mr. Gray has been for so long head honcho in his own bizarre world, tucked away in a small nook of Marshfield high school. Freshmen know this good-natured 'Mainiac' the kind, generous teacher who introduced them to secondary school English; Seniors know him as the sharply dressed homeroom teacher with a flare for spontaneity. We will truly miss the man who had William Shakespeare as a student. Now, Mr. Gray, you've got a minure---tell us all you know.

Dedication

"... dedicated to her job. She really wants the kids to learn and to do the best they can."

"She always made me look things up in the dictionary, especially SYMPATHY!"

"She really doesn't like the verb to be, to have and the, ummmm, passive voice, yah that's it."

"It walks, it talks, but is it human? It crawls on its belly like a reptile. Shoot it before it spreads!"

"Poet laureate of MHS"

"Good teacher, likes to give out a lot of books though!"

"She pushes you, but it pays off."

"She always says, 'Good posture is conducive to good learning'."

"Know it cold!!"

Mrs. Virginia Ross

We had all heard the myths about her class — the endless homework assignments, the grueling analyses of Shakespearean sonnets, the countless essays. As timid underclassmen we entered her English class naïve and obedient and exited mature, critical thinkers with impressive analytical skills. The catalyst of this transformation? Mrs. Virginia Ross.

Her enthusiasm, dedication, and unconditional love for teaching impacted greatly upon all of us. As English department head and teacher, Mrs. Ross exemplifies the essence of true professionalism. We thank you for your time, your advice, your genuine concern, and, most importantly, the positive influence you have had on all of us.

It's been 4 great years of fun, love, laughter tears and frustrations.
We've all grown to be our own separate individuals while at the same time remaining best of friends. So let's remember to cherish these years forever Best of luck to us all!

Jennifer,
"Special is a word that is used to describe something one-of-a-kind. Like a hug or a sunset or a person who spreads love with a smile or kind gesture. "Special" describes people who act from the heart and keep in mind the hearts of others. "Special" applies to something that is admired and precious and which can never be replaced. "Special" is the word that best describes you. I love you and am very proud that you are my daughter

"Friends are people who help you be more yourself, more the person you are intended to be."

Five years ago, I moved here-gray pants, neon orange sweater and all not sure what to expect. I never, NEVER, expected anything as great as what I found. You guys are so weird. I am so much like you, it's scary. I don't know what I'd be doing, if I'd really be me, without you. Thanks for All the memories.
Thanks for always making me laugh you're the best.

I love you all
